Activity 1: List

To better understand React Components, let's build a new React App that displays a list of Posts. With this app, we should be able to learn how to display a user image, name, the actual time at which the post was posted, and the post text underneath. Have hardcode data for the names and the messages in the meantime.